City May Not Control Kingston Point Park

Trolley Road's Lease for Part of Park Expired January 1, and Will Not be Renewed by U. & D. R. R.—City Operated Park at Loss of Over $8,000 Past Two Seasons.

There is a grave question as to whether Kingston Point Park will be under the control of the board of public works this season, although the board has not passed upon that question as yet. In fact the park policy of the board of the coming season has not been formulated, it is understood.

For several seasons the board of public works has been operating the park under a lease with the Kingston Consolidated Railroad Company, which still has two seasons to run, expiring in 1923. The board leased the park at a rental of $1,000, and the trolley road furnished the power to light the park and operate the merry-go-round.

It has just become known that the trolley road's lease with the U. & D. R. R. for part of this year, and it will not be renewed. This part of the park includes the dock, pavilion, band stand, and the comfort stations at the park.

The U. & D. R. R. railroad will not renew the lease for that part of the park property as it has other plans in view for using the pavilion and dock.

Under the terms of the lease with the trolley road the board of public works received revenue by leasing the various concessions at the park such as the merry-go-round, the refreshment privilege, the boats and the dance hall, and the Penny Arcade.

Just what it cost the city to operate Kingston Point Park is shown in the official figures of the firm of auditors employed by the city to make a yearly audit of the city's books.

During 1920 the expenses of operating the park amounted to $7,703.57 while the revenue was $4,049.99, a loss of $3,653.58.

During 1921 the expenses amounted to $9,382.16, while the revenue amounted to $4,572, or a loss of $4,810.16.

The total loss for the two seasons amounted to $8,463.74.

The question of the park policy of the new board of public works of the city during the summer months has been the subject of much discussion. As the board members have only recently appointed they have not had time to take up the question of what policy to carry on in the park system for the coming season, but undoubtedly will formulate a policy before spring.

It is hardly likely, however, that the present board will operate the park system on an extensive scale as in other seasons. The board will undoubtedly have band music the coming season at some of the parks, but there is a question as to whether a corps of playground experts will be employed as in past seasons.

If the trolley road is unable to lease the entire grounds at Kingston Point Park to the board of public works it does not seem likely that the board will consent to operate part of the park, and if that is not done it is likely that the trolley road will have to take up the question of operating what is left of the park itself.

LEGISLATURE IN FINAL LAP

To be Earliest Adjournment Since Colonial Days and Yet Work is in Such Good Shape that Last Month Rush Will be Avoided.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, Feb. 6.—With the date for final adjournment set for a week from Friday, the legislature this week enters its final lap.

Speaker Machold, Majority Leader Lusk of the senate and the other Republican leaders say that the work is in such good shape that the usual jam and rush of the last day will be eliminated this year.

The last hearings before assembly committees will be held tomorrow afternoon. There will be a short session of the legislature in the evening to receive the final reports of the committees. On Wednesday the rules committee will take charge of all legislation in the lower house. Majority Leader Lusk said he hoped to have all the senate hearings completed by not later than Wednesday.

Scores of local measures will be reported by the various committees tomorrow. The administration measures which remain to be passed include water power, child welfare, state printing and the central purchasing board. The appropriation bill, port authority and the Livermore bill, giving women representation on county political committees, have been approved by both houses.

Indications are that there will be a stiff fight over the bill which will repeal the railroad full-crew law, but the general belief at the capital is that the measure will be defeated.

While the Duell-Miller anti-strike bill is regarded as dead, it is to be amended so as to apply to employers and employees of public service utilities, and the backers intend to make a final effort to push it through both houses.

The Democrats are prepared to make a strenuous fight on the two Robinson measures which carry out the governor's water power recommendations, but the passage of both bills is assured.

Two of the most important tax measures which are expected to be passed this week are those which would impose a four per cent tax on unincorporated business, and the elimination of the personal property tax.

The legislature has before it the recommendations of the Lowman committee and the state tax commission seeking to reduce automobile accidents by licensing all operators, and making greater restrictions on the sale of used cars with a view of preventing thefts. Indications are that a number of the bills affecting automobile owners and operators will be passed before the lawmakers quit next week.

It is expected that next week will see the passage of a number of the Walton so-called crime wave bills. These measures are still in committee but will be reported out this week. It is understood.

This will be the earliest the legislature has adjourned since Colonial days.

NO REDUCTION IN CROPS THIS YEAR

Contrary to the opinion of many, there seems to be no indication that food production will be decreased in this state this season. According to John B. Shepard of the U. S. Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates, farmers now plan to decrease the acreage of hay only a fraction of one percent and increase the total acreage devoted to other crops nearly three per cent. Much of course depends on weather conditions and no accurate estimate can be made so early in the season by the figures of interest in that they show that the prevailing low prices of farm products as compared with other commodities will not cause any decrease in the acreage planted to crops in this state.

STREET LIAR NOW IN THE COUNTRY

Finds Fertile Soil in Catskills in Which to Start His Tales of New Water Supply Projects to Start at Once.

Although no further progress has been made in the surveys which were made some time ago in the vicinity of Arkville, Margaretville and Fleischmanns, as announced in The Freeman at the time, that section of Delaware county appears to be in the throes of rumors regarding the immediate development of the nearby valleys as part of the New York city water supply.

Most of the stories are very circumstantial, and like most of the stories told by the Busy Street Liar everywhere, the informant either claims to speak with authority or to have received the information from such a person, but in all cases he requires that his name shall not be mentioned. Kingston and Ulster county were overrun with such pests before the Ashokan reservoir was constructed, and official denials have no effect on the product of the Busy Street Liar's imagination. The New York board of water supply announced some time ago that the Arkville section was only one of a number of watersheds which were being investigated and surveyed for the purpose of securing data, and that in any event no construction in that vicinity was contemplated for some years to come.

But the Delaware county liar goes along in a happy way supplying detail of all kinds, from the exact location of the dam to mysteriously supplied information that the Ulster & Delaware Railroad has been told by the city of New York that it must be looking for a new right of way "from Highmount to Roxbury."

If the Delaware county newspapers publish all the rumors that will be heard from now on, they will furnish some interesting reading matter, for the real interest and benefit of the serial publication of "The Arabian Nights' Entertainment" is much to be preferred.

RAID ON RESPECTED FARMER PRODUCES STILL.

Searles Also Had Some Superior Apple Brandy.

A raid on the farm house of Luman Searles, one of the most prominent and highly respected citizens of East Durham, Greene county, last week, disclosed the presence in his cellar of three fully equipped stills, nineteen barrels of cider and two ten gallon kegs of cider brandy.

The raid was made late Friday afternoon by State Troopers Sager and Dimmick, Under Sheriff Dewell and Officer Fitzsimmons, who acted by virtue of a search warrant issued by County Judge Tallmadge on the application of Sergeant Sager. The cider, cider brandy and stills were taken to Catskill.

The apple brandy is said to be of very superior quality. The stills consisted of copper boilers with coils and were otherwise completely equipped.

Mr. Searles owns a large farm about a mile and a half beyond East Durham. He was a candidate for postmaster at that place.

JEWISH HOLIDAY COMES ON MONDAY.

The ninth day of Purim will be celebrated in Jewish circles this year on Monday evening, March 14, with a special service in the synagogue. While a holiday of a minor character, its use of the scroll of Esther has endeared the festival to the Jewish people who make it an occasion for popular rejoicing.

The services for this festival are wholly concerned with the reading of the story of Esther, which, from time to time, assumed a more prophetic character and foretold, in part, the checkered career of the Jews.

On this day the Jewish people remember the miraculous redemption wrought for their ancestors by the loyalty and devotion of Mordecai, uncle of Queen Esther, whose fidelity to his king and country made possible the rescue of the king from the hands of plotters.

WILD DEER HUNT ON THE STRAND

Policeman and Citizens Engage in Thrilling Chase Along Main Thoroughfare Finally Landing Quarry—Game Protector DeWitt Took Charge of the Hunt.

"That calf is some jumper," remarked Morris Miller, the local taxidermer, excitedly as he glanced down the Strand and saw an animal bound over the top of the six foot board fence adjoining the William J. Turck office, almost opposite the Rhinecliff ferry shed.

"That's no calf," shouted another "it's a deer."

The deer driven deer, for such it was, dashed up the Strand, and when near the lunch wagon of Pierson & Co. it ran up the stone steps leading to the wagon, but when it found its way blocked, it backed down and across the sidewalk into an automobile parked at the curb.

The hunter caused the animal to stumble and fall to the sidewalk when Pierson's Peter Camp, Morris Miller, George Becker and Sattala, a barber, George Becker's brother-in-law, opposite the lunch wagon, fell on top of the animal and in spite of its struggles held it fast.

The deer at the suggestion of David Parker, the butcher, was carried into his store nearby, but when the animal again became frisky he urged the four men to take it outside again.

About this time Charles Brooks, of Walnut street, a member of the Ulster County Game & Fish Protective Association, appeared on the scene and suggested that Game Protector DeWitt of Brewster street be notified of the capture, which was done.

The game protector took charge and Officer Camp had the deer placed in the Mill street lockup until Mr. DeWitt could get in touch with Albany and see what disposition was to be made of the deer. It was suggested that the captive deer should be placed with the two other deer in the enclosure at Forest Park.

The deer chase and capture occurred at noon when the downtown streets were filled with workers and hundreds soon collected at the scene.

The deer from all appearances had run down off the high road through the Ulster & Delaware railroad yard, where it leaped the fence at Turck's yard it had scraped the top of the fence with its body tearing out large quantities of hair which strewn the ground.

Some believe that the animal crossed the ice from the other side of the Hudson river, while others believe it came down from the Catskill mountains and through Lindsey's woods back of Delaware avenue.

The animal's four feet were held securely together before it was laid on the floor of the Mill street lockup awaiting final disposition as to its fate. The deer was not only winded from its flight, but badly frightened.

PATRICOLO CONCERT TUESDAY

It is fitting that Angelo Patricolo should give his concert, assisted by Clara Anwell, harpist, and Carlo Greene, soprano, at the High School for he has been doing splendid work in the new department of musical appreciation, by giving recitals at the larger high schools in and about New York city, for the pupils, the teachers, and the music departments of the schools. Patricolo was one of the pioneers in so doing, and the criticisms from those competent to judge, are of the highest. And he will bring with him for tomorrow evening's concert equally high talent in the harpist and soprano.

The Federation of Women's Clubs announces that tickets will be for sale at the door tomorrow evening, as well as from club members and at the three schools before mentioned. The concert will begin at 8:15 o'clock, and no late comers will be shown in seats during the playing of the opening numbers.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

MR. MOON'S PARTY

"Come, children, come, Moonbeams," said Mr. Moon. "I am going to give a party. And come, Stars, for you must see what fun we are going to have."

"Come, Pine Trees, come to Mr. Moon's party. It will be given this evening two hours before midnight, and I shall welcome all my old friends and any guests they may wish to bring along with them."

At ten o'clock the fairies all came to the party and the Stars were all twinkling in the sky and saying: "Good evening," as often and as fast as they could.

The two tall pine trees which were on top of the hill where Mr. Moon had said his party was going to take place, were saying:

"Good evening, good evening everybody!"

They bowed slowly and gracefully to all the guests, and they looked so majestic and so dignified and so handsome.

The Snow Fairies came along dressed in their dazzling snow suits. What lovely suits they were! They were of snowy white with sparkling jewels all over them.

When they ran and played it seemed as though the Snow Fairies had sent their snow jewels down to the earth. They dazzled and sparkled all over the ground.

Madame Snow came, too, wearing her lovely white snow cape and her best snow evening gown. She wore beautiful jewels, too, and her dress and evening cape were both edged with snow diamonds.

"You see," Mr. Moon said, as he smiled at all his guests, "this afternoon two children were sliding on this hill. A little boy and a little girl were sliding down this hill again and again and again."

"They had the most wonderful time, and I heard about it from the Sky Messengers. But I couldn't see them as I was resting and wanted to be rested by the time evening came."

"I did want to see where they had been playing, and when I found what beautiful tracks they had made and how they had smoothed down the snow, and what fine coasting there was, I wanted to give a moonlight party."

"So I sent out my invitations at once to ask you all to come to my party. And now I'm going to give you such light that it will look like daylight, so clearly will you be able to see."

"I shall shine on the hill down which you are going to slide, and it will look as bright as though Mr. Sun himself had decided to give a party."

"You will notice that you can even see the footprints of the little boy and the little girl, which they made when they walked up the hill with their sleds before sliding down it."

"Yes, Mr. Moon is making it look as bright as day for his party."

His two good friends, the Pine Trees, are adding a great deal to the beauty as they always do, and the lovely jewels and white dresses of the Snow family make the scene a very gay and bright one.

"But isn't it fun to see the footprints of the children? Mr. Moon does enjoy that. He can see them so plainly, too, when he shines as brightly as this."

"And he thinks it is such a fine idea to coast and to slide down hill that he wants to keep the tracks where the children were hard and fine for tomorrow."

"They have another whole day of coasting tomorrow. Come on, guests, let us see the fun."

So Mr. Moon smiled and beamed as his guests enjoyed the party, and Mr. Moon sang to himself:

"In the footprints of the girl, in the footprints of the boy, Go my guests this evening, Singing, and full of joy, Mr. Moon is shining, So it's just as bright as day, For Mr. Moon's giving a party, Hurrah, hurrah, hurrah!"

And all of the guests shouted: "Hurrah, hurrah, hurrah!"

Kitty Ate Too Much. "Oh, mamma," exclaimed four-year-old Hazel as puss with arched spine and elevated tail strutted around the dining room table. "See, kitty's eat so much plum pudding that she can't pull her tail down."

SEASONABLE DESSERTS

A pie of any variety except mince is in season all the year, for pie seems to be the great American dessert.

Chocolate Cream Pie.—Melt two squares of chocolate, add one-half cupful of sugar, four teaspoonfuls of cornstarch, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt, the yolks of three eggs slightly beaten and two cupfuls of milk, stirring constantly; add one tablespoonful of vanilla and turn into a baked pastry shell. Spread with a meringue and brown in the oven.

Buttered Bread and Raisin Pudding.—Butter slices of bread, removing the crusts, to fill a three-pint baking dish. Arrange in the dish, buttered side down. Sprinkle a thin layer of shredded, seeded raisins between the layers. Cover with four cupfuls of milk to which three slightly beaten eggs have been added, one cupful of brown sugar, one-half teaspoonful of salt and the rind and juice of a lemon. Bake slowly two hours. Serve with a hard sauce.

Cranberry Pie.—Cream five tablespoonfuls of butter with one-half cupful of brown sugar, and one well-beaten egg and one cupful of flour. Chill and roll out into three rounds and bake. Cook cranberries with three tablespoonfuls of cake crumbs, sugar and water until thick. Cool and spread between the layers. Cover with whipped cream and serve in wedge-shaped pieces.

Dutch Apple Cake.—Sift together two cupfuls of pastry flour, one-half teaspoonful of salt, three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, three teaspoonfuls of sugar, beat the yolks of two eggs until thick and light, add to the first mixture, with three tablespoonfuls of melted butter and one cupful of milk; beat until smooth, cut and fold in the whites of the eggs, beaten stiff and dry. Spread the mixture in a buttered shallow pan to the depth of an inch. Pare, core and cut apples in eighths to cover the top, pressing the sharp edges into the butter in rows. Sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar and bake in a hot oven. Serve hot with lemon sauce.

A Cockle Opalized. A perfect cockle, perished and opalized, was on view recently in Adelaide, South Australia. At first glance it resembles an ordinary cockle, such as may be found on any of the extensive beaches of the Commonwealth. A closer investigation, however, discloses the fire and brilliance of the stone shining through the ribbed limeston shell. Sir Douglas Mawson of Adelaide university and South Polar fame, has examined this gem, and thinks the cockle, now converted into such a thing of beauty, was alive millions of years ago, and had its home in the shallow sea by which the interior of the continent was covered in the almost fabulous past.

Imparting the Truth. There can be no doubt that the proper way of conveying to my understanding a truth of which I am ignorant, or of impressing upon me a firmer persuasion of a truth with which I am acquainted, is by an appeal to my reason.—William Godwin.

Early Irish Coin. One of the early coins in Ireland was the eagle, made of base metal and current about 1272, but an earlier coin was the farthing, made of silver, during the reigns of King John, and now very rare and of great value.

Makes His Costs Last. Frank S. Stone of Westboro, Mass., says the Boston Globe, has worn the same overcoat for 35 winters, and he says it is good for ten more. For better or ill he has a heavier coat which has been in service for only 20 years. Stone says styles travel in a circle, returning on the average every five years, his 35-year-old coat having been in the height of fashion seven times.

Them Were the Happy Days. In these days a man was his own barber, his own plumber, his own grocer and everything. If married, except his own boss.—Detroit News.

SPRING HATS IN THE BIG SHOPS

New York Milliners Now Making Appeal to Women to Buy Gay Headgear.

NEITHER SMALL NOR LARGE

Mode Keeps to Decided Middle Distance, Making Style Very Becoming to Average Face; Worn Straight Over Eyes.

If you want to see a fresh promise of spring and all the clothes that season brings with it, then walk on Fifth avenue and look at the bright new hats in the windows, advises a fashion writer in the New York Times. They at least are all ready and waiting for warmer days to come; and, in fact, they are even begging prettily to be worn right now. Many of them are so happily constructed that their materials seem to say: "Here is something more suitable for this time of year than the hat you have on." Now, you know, that is the most fatal sort of temptation. For who does not secretly long for a new hat at this season of the year?

The next most inspirational thing to do is to watch the models as they try on these brilliant new creations and see just exactly how they should be worn. For it is the posing of a hat, after all, that gives its true style; without its proper and destined angle it amounts to nothing; one must not only have courage and comeliness to wear new things in headgear, but one must then understand how to wear them effectively if the best appearance in the world is to be the outcome.

Almost obscure the eyes. The new hats are straight over the eyes, but they manage almost to obscure the eyes nevertheless. At one time they contained themselves with obliterating from sight the right eye, but there is nothing of that partially shown now. The newer hats push down over both eyes, regardless of whether they are right or left, and to the discretion of the wearer is left the decision of whether she shall be allowed to see her way clearly before her or not.

After they have attended to this little duty, which is a caution ruling of the season, then the hats or turbans or toques or whatever they may be go forth upon various ways of their own. Really they seem to be allowed the greatest amount of latitude about the shapes in which they shall appear.

Then turn away, from the face, many of them. It is a sharp, sure turning, but it does not stop at that. Having achieved the upward spread that it is sure to have, it then spreads on to the sides, down, or out, or drooping at the back. In some way or other the brim of the most modern of hats creates a sweep that is conspicuously appropriate.

The hats are neither small nor large, but most of them, just now, keep to a decided middle distance, making them easily becoming to the average face. When they have any tendency to smallness, then their trimming in some way draws out the line and gives the silhouette of the hat a broader, more expensive appearance. There seems to be none of those ultra-high little affairs which were popular for so long. They have something added always to give them more form and shape than those which hugged the head so tightly.

The Matter of Trimmings.

It is in the matter of trimmings, perhaps, where the new hats excel and show their freshness. There is not much trimming, mind you—nothing resembling overdecorating—but what is there is so perfectly arranged and composed with the hat and its shape that it leaves nothing to be desired. While the trimming is in every way conspicuous, it is so rather because of its rarity and individualism than because of its overabundant quantity.

Ribbon, in bows and loops and ends, is one of the favored trimmings for the spring, and it certainly is pleasant to see this being used to so great an extent. Women always and ribbons becoming. They can be twisted and turned and pulled in so many fascinating ways that the hat with ribbon trimmings inevitably becomes a fascinating and fresh to the death.

thing to wear. Then there is this new craze for more, which brings with it a more ribbon to be used on hats. One hat among the newer ones has a ribbon made entirely of this sort of ribbon, carefully pulled into the crown of the hat, a soft rolling brim, over the left ear the brim disappears almost entirely and there two wide polka-dot ends of the ribbon stick straight into the air. The soft folded ends of the ribbon are in velvet and the hat is complete.

Another ribbon-trimmed hat has a large and rolling brim, and is rather broader in proportion to most of the hats now seen. It is made of a lightish brown straw, and then it has a wide taffeta peach-colored ribbon drawn tightly over the lining of the brim toward the front where at the brim's peak it is tied into a stiff, upward standing bow. It is a most unusual sort of hat and a very interesting one, though it is so decidedly new in character that one must have tenacity to wear it as a pattern for the rest of the world to follow.

Use of Grosgrain Ribbon.

Grosgrain ribbon is used to make white, shaped brim turbans. It has so much body that almost anything can be done with it and many of the newer hats will be found to have their starting point in grosgrain, with a little straw to help them out. Some of these hats succeed in looking like miniature airplanes, so light are the arrangements of ribbon that float away at one side or the other, or sometimes from both sides, at the closely fitting crown.

Ribbon that is narrow and plaited and formed into various sorts of roses is another favorite type of trimming and like the grosgrain trims just described, these succeed in making the hat more or less, once they start out in trim it. A yellow hat of straw with quite a Chinese shape to it, pointing up over the eyes, has a series of black plaited roses arranged in regular succession around its brim.

Then satin ribbon is used in jumps upon jumps, drooping down at one side from hats that are stiff and unrelenting in all other directions. It is interesting to see these little, quite for delicate turbans suddenly take it into their heads to show all that sunny ribbon on one side, and besides giving to the hat a pointy quality to become the face the ribbon carries out the design most gracefully.

Repeating the idea from many of the spring frocks, ribbon is again formed into points and semi-circles to trim the rounded heads of some of the hats. For instance round the upward turning and round brim of a hat the red hat there was a row of red ribbon points peeping from behind the brim's edge. This made the hat, for there was no other form of trimming to be seen, and while the ribbon was exactly the same tone as the straw of the hat, it had a decidedly decorative quality about it and gave the smartest sort of a look to the little novelty.

Other Styles of Hats.

A hat made of black satin had black satin ribbon drawn over its crown into two stiff bows, which jutted out at the right side. And another hat of the same foundation material had a stiff box of black ribbon set across the back so that its sweep showed from the front as an outline for that portion of the silhouette.

Readers are having a great opportunity as far as the newer spring hats are concerned. There is nothing obvious or at all passé about the way in which they are handled but the rule seems to be that, if originally copied into the game at all, heads and angles and straight lines are quite the nicest thing to use. For instance, most of the heads used are large and ornamental and clear as crystal, whether they are in color or in pure white. There are loops of them over the ears or across the front of the hat or across the back, and often these loops hang down and away from the hat, so that they create the impression of flying about the neck rather than about the hat.

Do the Himalayas Creep?

Geologic studies in the Himalayas and the Tibetan mountains seem to show an apparent creeping of these mountain ranges, slowly toward the south. Surveys may eventually disclose the real facts.

Siamese Fighting-Fish.

The government of Siam realizes a considerable revenue from fish fighting by licensed exhibitions where fish are matched against each other at sporting events. The fighting fish are found in the waters near there, and while not large, they are ferocious and fight to the death.

SAVING DAYLIGHT.

When Noah had a monopoly of the transportation business of the world he was in a position to dictate who and what might enter the ark and to fly the time, but since the flood crowded his descendants have found that keen competition makes it necessary for them to consult other peoples wishes in business, and they have not been as arrogant as Noah.

Business nowadays must meet the people half way and a little more. It cannot tell the public what it must buy and the hours for transacting ordinary business are the hours generally adopted in people everywhere. Business invites the public to compare wares and prices, it tries to suit public convenience, and this attitude is especially noticeable when trading becomes slack.

Therefore it is incomprehensible how Kingston can hope to compete with other places if it insists on perpetuating the obnoxious "Daylight Saving" on the public for another year. The bulk of Kingston's trade in the spring, summer and fall comes from the agricultural section of the county which has been unable to reach the city during the past winter months because of ice-bound roads. Every section of Ulster and the adjoining counties, which furnish a significant part of Kingston's trade has abandoned "Daylight Saving" because it is uneconomical and asinine, and in the midst of a big agricultural region operating under Standard time this city alone is working for five months with its clocks one hour fast.

Kingston is not bigger than the territory which trades here, yet under Daylight Saving it expects every buyer, every visitor, to change his clock, his habits and his mode of living for the privilege of trading here. Is there one business man in Kingston who believes that a single resident of the immense agricultural section tributary to Kingston will make those changes? Yet Kingston needs that business.

Daylight Saving was forced on Kingston a year ago on the specious plea that we must co-operate with the railroads which intended to run their trains on Daylight Saving time. The general public did not expect the railroads would do anything of the kind and they did not. Railroads everywhere continued to run on Standard time, but in Kingston there was misunderstanding, confusion broken engagements, loss of business, loss of money. Only the common council had been fooled.

Did Daylight Saving benefit Kingston? Was it popular with anyone except pleasure seekers? Did people living outside the city change their habits in order to trade here during Daylight Saving hours? Or didn't they go to places whose business hours corresponded with the rest of the United States and with their own? Was anything besides daylight saved by Daylight Saving? It is certain that no money was saved by it. It looks as if Kingston lost through "Daylight Saving."

Can we afford the foolish experiment another year? Stocking of business is not accompanied by any lowering of taxes or other expenses and the business man, the professional man and the wage earner all demanding more business instead of less. Is Kingston so different from the rest of the world that it can afford to imitate Noah?

If it should be urged that Daylight Saving be retained on account of Sunday baseball, why should Kingston be different from other places, where Sunday baseball is played on Standard time?

Do conditions warrant continuing cash experiments which have been thrown out elsewhere? Or isn't it a fact that conditions demand an early return to Standard time and sanity?

TERRORIZING MINORITIES.

Commander MacNider of the American Legion has notified the President of the United States that there must be no further delay in the matter of voting a bonus, for it is demanded by the American Legion "speaking for nearly 5,000,000 returned service men and women and 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 more of their immediate families who do not understand but commitment and then rejection." Before this ultimatum Congress noticeably quails. To raise the money for the bonus at this time is not regarded as practicable. Not one of the leaders in Congress thinks it wise to attempt it, yet all are quaking in their boots, fearing to lose the next election.

To many it seems weak and absurd to be terrorized by a minority, yet most of us know from observation what a determined minority can do if it is sufficiently loud of tongue and puts its will above party as well as other considerations. Recent figures indicate, however, that those demanding a bonus constitute a smaller minority than has been supposed. Commander MacNider says he speaks for "nearly five million returned service men and women. According to figures prepared by a Philadelphia member of the Legion and made public in the New York Herald by Senator Pepper, the membership of the American Legion "paid up and in good standing" on February 19, 1922, was only 344,504. Many even of the relatively few service men who are members of the Legion itself have protested against the bonus proposition, demanding that the Government use all the available money for the benefit of the sick and disabled, leaving the able bodied service man to take care of himself. Letters from Legion members so protesting have been published in the newspapers all over the country.

Nevertheless Congress is terrorized well knowing—even with the Pepper figures before it—that even a small minority can do when organized, resolute and sufficiently reckless. It is scarcely an exaggeration to say that in our time the country is "run" by terrorizing minorities, and that one of these is represented by the agents of each of the 150 lobbies that are well supplied with both funds and assurance and are dogging the steps of Congressmen in Washington night and day.

Answers to Previous Questions

1. What is meant by "eclipse plumage" in descriptions of birds?
 A temporary plumage put on by some birds during the fall moult, to conceal their usual handsome and conspicuous feathers while the wings are feeble from the loss of quills. The male mallard duck is an example. Such birds need protection while unable to fly, and nature hides them temporarily by dull colors.

2. As watermelon does best in a dry soil why does it contain so much more moisture than other fruit and vegetables?
 Because its composition allows it to absorb and store moisture somewhat after the fashion of desert plants, with no transpiration—giving off of water—to speak of. Cacti for instance are juicy enough in arid regions to afford drink to man. The desert type of plant absorbs a great deal of water from periodic rains and then keeps it stored.

3. For what is the wool of South Dakota and Wyoming used? Local merchants tell me it is not used for clothing, as wool for that purpose is imported.
 We can't speak authoritatively on this. The big sheep ranches where the creatures are raised in thousands doubtless do not produce as fine grade wool—being run more for the object of mutton—supply than for wool—as those where careful selection of smaller flocks has produced a fine long even grade of pelage. We suppose the wool from the great western flocks is practicable for coarser sort of stuffs however.

SHE WALKED WITH A CANE

Monday Health Talk No. 66
By Froude & MacKinnon

Uncle Ben says.
"Idea Nervv.
are the Spack
pluse of business for it takes health to form the gas"

Just how a child comes by displacements of the spinal vertebrae is not hard to appreciate if you watch them at play. They get some hard falls and jolts, and unless the spine is given attention every now and then some chronic ailment is apt to develop. It was thus with Violet Watson. Something threw the proper vertebrae out of alignment and Rheumatism resulted. For years she walked with a cane.

Rheumatism is due to pinching of spinal nerves to the kidneys and liver. This results in sluggish activity of these two eliminating organs.

HEALTH FOLLOWS CHIROPRACTIC CORRECTS PRESSURE ON SPINAL NERVES IN DISEASES OF THE FOLLOWING ORGANS:

Small Colon-Lower Limbs

THE LOWER NERVE UNDER THE MAGNIFYING GLASS IS PINCHED BY A MISALIGNED JOINT. PINCHED NERVES CANNOT TRANSMIT HEALTHFUL IMPULSES. CHIROPRACTIC ADJUSTING REMOVES THE PRESSURE. THE UPPER NERVE IS FREE AS NATURE INTENDS.

As the waste poisons accumulate in the system the symptoms develop that warrant the physician in calling it rheumatism. The chiropractor brings the patient back to health by eliminating the cause—spinal nerve pressure—and when this pressure is gone, nature gradually clears the system of waste poisons and the sufferer becomes well.

BEDFAST FOR SEVEN MONTHS—NOW WELL.

"My daughter, Violet Watson, was ill two years with rheumatism. In her last attack she was bedfast seven months. Her case was pronounced hopeless and we turned to chiropractic. After a time she threw away a cane she had used for years. Today she is in perfect health. I can sympathize with all such sufferers and recommend chiropractic."—William R. Watson, Chiropractic Research Bureau, Statement No. 1223-M

When health begins depends on when you telephone 716 for an appointment. Consultation is without charge. Our variable rule is never to accept a case that we are not confident we can benefit. We are graduates of the University of Palmer School of Chiropractic, Iowa—the world's foremost chiropractic college. The system of pinpoints adjusting originated by us is acknowledged far superior to any method heretofore in use.

SOLDIERS QUIET FIUME RIOTS

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Milan, March 6.—Two thousand Italian soldiers—carabinieri and Royal Guards—are maintaining order at Fiume today.

Funerals of the victims in the recent fighting between the Fascist (revolutionists), and the police were held on Sunday without demonstrations.

Two hundred American tourists, braving the dangers of warfare in Fiume ventured into the city and were given an enthusiastic welcome by the populace.

Franz Emanuel Wettberg

Franz Emanuel Wettberg "sixty-three years young" collected a wage of $10,000 when he walked into Albany, N. Y., and completed his walking trip around the world. He started from Albany January 15, 1914 and brought back with him his original pack rifle—and good health. Wettberg admits that while in Europe he visited many "wet bergs."

At Home and Abroad.
A nine-year-old youngster who has a cultured mother and has received the most careful training all his young life, had his luncheon alone downtown recently. His family is exceedingly careful of his diet at home, but the boy placed on his own tray baked beans, a dill pickle and brick of ice cream. He timed himself to determine how quickly he could consume the beans with a soup spoon, used a knife and fork for the brick cream, and threw the pickle at a schoolmate who sat at an adjoining table.—Elizabethton Times

The baptism, said by Mrs. Porter, a year ago, was performed by the Rev. Edwin Curtis, resulted in the expulsion of Dr. Curtis as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at Brookline.

Walking.
If a man is walking, it is the first principle of philosophy: to say that he is not walking, the first principle of science to say that he is placing one foot before the other and bringing the bladder one in turn to the fore the first principle of art to say that the man is more than walking, he is yearning; then there are times when scientist, philosopher and poet all discover of a sudden that by heavens the man is walking and none other.—Kenneth Burke, in the Dial.

Robins Meet Plentiful.
It is safe to say that there are more robins in this country than birds of any other species. All bird censuses show this conclusively. The robin has become a welcome and well-remembered guest to all who were born amid rural scenes. He has secured a place in our literature. He makes himself perfectly at home with us, and known all the folks.

Paris an Ancient City.
The name Paris as applied to the town first occurred in a synodal letter convening a council there in A. D. 800. The city is first mentioned in history under the name of Lutetia by Julius Caesar in 53 B. C. when he appointed it as the meeting place of deputies from conquered Gaul. It was then the fortified capital of the Parisii, an insignificant Gallic tribe.

A Bird of a Pen.
The prize for the season's worst pun goes to Christopher Morley. Observing four ladies waiting outside a pay car on a siding, ready to "bone" the men as they came out for a contribution to some doubtless worthy cause, he paraphrastically commented: "Where the car-rush is, there are the mules yers."—Boston Transcript.

40 POUNDS OF CAT THEIR PET

India Lynx Wintering Here in Chamberlain's Shop With Amazing Vocal Power—Dogs and Pines Cats Share Chair of Honor.

An India lynx makes a nice little playmate, and if anybody in town wants to make his acquaintance application should be made to Adelbert H. Chambers of the Stuyvesant Garage, who is wintering the little fellow for its owner, Warren Archibald of New Kingston, Delaware county, while the latter is spending the winter in the south.

The lynx is popularly called a wild-cat, but he is not. He is a lynx, and while a member of the cat family, he is not wild and ought not to be confused with the ordinary wildcats which are supposed to inhabit the mountainous regions of the United States.

The India lynx which Mr. Chambers is caring for at The Stuyvesant Garage is a native of Thibet and is four years old. He is tame, although he does not always look so and he can make a noise that sounds far from tame when Mr. Chambers or anybody else hugs him too tightly in play.

Last winter the lynx was placed in the Bronx Zoo by Mr. Archibald when he went south. The cage of the lynx adjoined the cage of a mountain lion. The lion was not nearly as playful or companionable as the lynx, and when the lion one day reached through the bars and playfully batted the lion lightly on the ear, the lion retaliated with a blow that tore open the lynx's paw and necessitated amputation of the paw at the joint which corresponds with the elbow in a human being. Therefore, the lynx limps when he walks.

Members of Mr. Archibald's family are greatly attached to the lynx, which generally accompanies them on automobile trips, lying quietly on the running board of the car, viewing the scenery with marked serenity, eating confectionery and other tidbits which may be dropped over the side of the car for him, and arching his back and puffing out at any stray dog which runs alongside the automobile barking at the driver. After seeing the lynx stretch itself, dogs generally lose interest in the automobile and recall a previous engagement in a nearby field or underbrush.

The India lynx occupies a room on the second floor of The Stuyvesant Garage and spends a large part of its time in the window, sunning itself in the afternoon and at other times watching the traffic on Clinton avenue or the Ulster & Delaware railroad. Mr. Chambers occasionally takes the lynx to his home nearby in order to give him proper exercise that will keep him healthy and also for the entertainment of guests.

After a first introduction, guests of Mr. Chambers become quite attached to the lynx, and enjoy romping with him. The lynx plays like a kitten in spite of his forty pounds and undoubted power. He is a good boxer, partner if he were light weight gloves. The lynx likes human companionship but is averse to making the acquaintance of cats or dogs. The largest toms of the neighborhood usually leave the vicinity for their regular garbage routes after taking one and a half squirts at the importation from Thibet.

The lynx stands about fifteen inches high except when he arches his back, when he appears to be anywhere from two to six feet according to the activity of the imagination of the person who sees him. He has the short "bob" tail of the American wildcat, and his eyes, when open are somewhat larger than the ordinary after-dinner coffee cup. He has a good pair of lungs, which he exercises only when Mr. Chambers or anyone who happens to be playing with him squeezes him too tight. Then he lets out a caterwauling sound that seems like a cross between the roar of an African lion and the bray of a donkey. At such times the continuous character of the sound gives the impression that his lungs are built in sections, like the bellows of a pipe-organ, and the roar continues without a stop for breath.

A number of Kingstonians who have seen the lynx in the window but have been assured by friends that there was no such animal there, have told friends in confidence that they never actually opposed Prohibition and in fact believe it is a good thing. To many of these people the present announcement will be the first definite news that the lynx is really there. The lynx is being kept in perfectly safe quarters and not only is there no danger of his escaping, but he would not leave the comfortable room he occupies if he had a chance; he is too fond of the good treatment he gets there and of human companionship in general. But should any Kingstonian returning home late at night at any time discover a large animal about two feet long curled comfortably on the foot of his bed, there is no need to become excited or to arouse the household unless he happens to see two animals. In such event it would be wise to notify the household, because in reality there is only one.

Kingston Girl Appointed.
Miss Agnes L. Coughlin, of 51 Montrose avenue, a graduate of the Moran Business School, has been appointed to a high-grade position in the district office of the Vocational Training Bureau, Market street, Poughkeepsie. Several months ago Miss Coughlin was notified by the civil service commission of her success in the New York state civil service examination for stenographer and typist, in preparation for which she received special instruction at the Morza School.

RETAIL DINNER TICKET SITUATION

Tickets for the Retail Merchants' banquet, which will be held at the Elks' Club on Thursday evening, March 16, are going fast. Anyone who would make certain to attend this banquet should secure their tickets now as only a few more remain to be sold. The number of tickets to be sold is limited and this limit is nearly reached. If the few remaining tickets are not sold within a few days they will be recalled and then it will be too late to secure admission to the dinner. Besides the good things to eat there will be entertainment by Al King at the dinner. Tomorrow may be too late and the committee in charge of the affair urge that early action be taken to make sure of a reservation.

PORT EWEN.

Port Ewen, March 6.—Port Ewen Lodge, No. 656, I. O. O. F., will meet Tuesday evening in their council rooms in Pythian Hall.

Arthur Strano of Sackett street fell on the icy walk and broke his right arm last week.

The efficiency conference in charge of the district superintendent of the Kingston district, the Rev. George W. Grinton, D. D., met this afternoon in the Methodist Church. This evening Dr. Elmer A. Dent, secretary of the New York Area, will address the meeting. Everyone is cordially invited to this service.

The committee in charge of the old-fashioned dance expects to see your smiling countenance Wednesday evening, March 8, at Pythian Hall. Grand march at 8:30. Square dances and round dances. Come and join in and have a merry time, the old and the young.

Clark Van Wagenen, who has been the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Silas Perrine on Broadway, has returned to his home in New York city.

Robert Proper, who has been ill of tonsillitis at his home on Hamilton street, has resumed his taxicab business and his many friends are glad to see him out again.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Fowler of Kingston spent Sunday with Mrs. Fowler's parents, Mr. and Mrs. LeGrand Doyle, on Riverside avenue.

Tudoroff Brothers, electrical contractors, are re-wiring Pythian Hall. Theodore Knecht of Kingston spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Knecht, on Stout avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Mable of Green street, who have been ill of grip, are improving.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheridan Simpson of Mohonk Lake spent the week end at their home on Main street.

I. Ginzburg and daughter, Miss Sophia Ginzburg, of Kingston spent Sunday with Mrs. Kohan on Main street.

An efficiency conference and supper will be held at the Port Ewen M. E. Church this evening at 6 o'clock. Delegates are expected from St. James's, Clinton Avenue, Trinity, South Rondout, Eddyville and Episcopal Methodist Episcopal Churches. The Rev. E. A. Dent, D. D., of New York city, will deliver an address at a meeting for everybody at 7:30.

Her Class.

The mistress was rather alarmed over her new girl's sudden illness until the latter explained matters. "You see, mum," she said, "I wasn't feeling well and I went to the closet, and there was a bottle marked 'Three drops for an infant, six for an adult, and a teaspoonful for an emetic.' I knew I wasn't an infant. I wasn't sure about an adult, so I thought I must be an emetic, and I took the spoonful."—Boston Transcript.

Neon and the Aurora.

By means of sounding balloons there have been collected specimens of the air up to an altitude of more than eight and a half miles. Analysis shows the presence of helium only in the layers lower than about six miles. Neon, on the contrary, is found at all levels, and this fact is regarded as confirming the identification of several spectroscopic lines of neon in the spectrum of the aurora borealis.

Somewhat Peculiar.

In 1920, it is recorded by an English magazine, Edward Smith died at the age of seventy-five years, and that until a few years before his death it was his constant practice to ride upon a bull, and instead of smoking tobacco he had his hay salted and smoked it instead of that plant.

Some Salesman.

Ed had a brother who owned a mortuary. On Saturday it was Ed's turn to help in the store. One day a neighbor came in and finding Ed there she asked seriously: "Have you thickened today?" "Sure," responded the youngster, "we have all kinds alive, dead, dressed and undressed."

The Fountain of Youth

PONCE DE LEON came to the new world seeking the fountain of youth.

Youth! The magic word! Youth means wealth and energy, health, cleanliness and everlasting strength.

Ponce de Leon did not find the fountain.

But it is here in this world, for all that.

James Watt, who discovered steam and developed the steam engine, was the first to find this fountain.

Following him into the new world of science have come innumerable others, studying, working, developing, until the very fountain of youth is here at hand in the electric light and power industry.

Through the application of electric light, heat and energy in manufacturing establishments, commercial houses and in the home, unsanitary conditions have been almost abolished. Dust and dirt need not exist; excessive heat or cold can be tempered; tension and strain on employers and employees and on housewives are taken away by a hundred different uses of electric power.

Innumerable ills are avoided. Above all, energy is saved—and energy is youth!

Back of this new force are the huge dams and water turbines, where water power is used, or the stupendous steam boilers, turbines, engines and generators, wires of high-tension transmission lines and the infinite web of innumerable smaller wires stretching out over the country.

Here is a fountain of eternal youth, indeed!

But, it must be fed. It has been fed to the amount of billions of dollars by thrifty American citizens who have put their savings into the securities of the electric light and power industry.

There are still millions of people to be added to the home patrons alone of electric light and power companies. Vast capital must be invested to supply their requirements, and it can be attracted only if present invested capital is treated fairly.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAY AND CONCERT

All preparations for the recital to be given by Chief Caupolican are under way and on Friday evening, March 17, at 8:15 o'clock, the chief assisted by Signorina Catarina Guerriere will give a costume song recital at the high school. The artists will be accompanied on the piano by Mademoiselle Gunhilde Jette. The concert is for the benefit of the High School Athletic Association and already quite a number of requests for tickets have been received. The tickets will be distributed among the students the first of this week, from whom they may be obtained.

In order to promote the sale of tickets a meeting of the Varsity Letter Club was held Thursday afternoon and it is probable that the drive will be launched through this organization.

The Priema girls are going to give a treat to the public in the future when they will present the Hamilton College Glee Club, one of the most successful traveling college clubs in existence. The Hamilton men have appeared in the city before and made a decided hit both with the Priema girls, the glee club being run on the male-order plan, and with the citizens. The date will be announced later.

In a recent meeting of the "Maroon" staff, the yearly record of the pulse of the senior class, it was decided to close the Maroon contest the first Friday in April as the copy has to be read, the winners decided and the stories prepared for the publisher. The contest consists of essays, stories and poems to be written and handed to any member of the staff before the date of closing. The contest is between classes and the divisions are known as a Freshman-Sophomore contest and a Junior-Senior contest. For the best essay written by the contestants in each of the groups a book of essays will be awarded, for the best poem a book of poems will be the prize, and for the best story a book of the world's best short stories will be the incentive. The offerings are to be handed to any member of the staff in this manner: Firstly, the writings are to be put in an envelope which shall contain another envelope sealed, and with the correct name of the author enclosed. The writings are signed with fictitious names in order to admit of no partiality in the judging of the winners of the contest.

The directors of the senior play, Miss Carter and Miss Noon, have announced the tentative cast selected. This selection is supposedly not final, should the acting of the various actors not meet with the approval of the directors, and it will be readjusted after a week of practices. A practice was held this afternoon in the high school auditorium. The play, a three act comedy, "Pomander Walk," by Louis N. Parker, is now being played as the musical comedy "Marjoline" at the Broadhurst in New York city. The cast as announced:

Considerable more interest has been taken in debating at the high school this year than for several years past. The first and second team debate is to be held next Monday, and the judges were selected Thursday. They are: Dr. Boecker, Professor Michaels and Mr. Mac Intyre. A letter from the Poughkeepsie Club was received Thursday concerning the judges for the debate in that city March 24, and the Poughkeepsieans stated that a reply to the challenge sent out by the K. H. S. affirmative team would be sent later. After the first and second team debate the final selection of the first team will be made.

"HOW ARE YOU?" YOUR FRIENDS ASK

They Hope That You Are Well and Strong—Poor Health is Unnatural.

All your friends greet you with "How do you do?" or "How are you?" They want you to be in good health. Poor health means unhappiness and trouble and pain to you and your friends and is not what Nature planned for human beings. But through overwork or improper living people do become run-down and sickly. If you feel that way and are weak and nervous and do not sleep well and have headaches, get some Gude's Pepto-Mangan and take it with your meals for a few weeks and you will get your health and strength back again and be as well as your healthy friends. You can buy it in liquid or tablet form. Ask for Gude's Pepto-Mangan.—Advertisement.

It is the general belief amongst the students that the teachers have entered a conspiracy to determine just how many tests they can give in a day and thus far the matters are progressing wholly in favor of the teachers who are finding just how much the majority of the students do not know. But it would be wholly acceptable unto the students if the practice should be abandoned.

The usual Friday morning program was not given but will be presented. The reason for this change was that Miss Carter was giving considerable time to the formality of "trying-out" of seniors for the various parts of the play, and to the publishing of the speeches of the debaters.

The class games scheduled for Friday afternoon were postponed until today. Tuesday afternoon the Senior-Freshmen girls will play.

A motion was passed in chapel exercises Friday morning that a committee be appointed to draw up and send resolutions to the family of the late Mr. Schaeffer in recognition of the deep sorrow of the faculty and students for the bereaved, and also to express their gratitude of his untiring work while a member of the board of education. The committee was Eric Brown, chairman; Miss Mary Swart and Miss Elizabeth Freeman.

A meeting of the Latin Club was held Friday afternoon and an unusual program of a literary nature was given by the various members of the club. The work of this club is progressive, very satisfactorily and it is expected that another such program will be given in the near future.

The last call for the seniors wishing to have their pictures in the Maroon has been issued and unless they present themselves at the Poughkeepsie Studio on or before March 8, a charge of 50 cents per week will be charged the delinquents.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
New York, March 6.—The stock market was irregular at the beginning of business today. U. S. Steel showed a loss of  $\frac{1}{4}$  at 92 $\frac{1}{2}$  and Baldwin Locomotive was  $\frac{1}{2}$  lower at 105 $\frac{1}{2}$ . Chandler Motors started  $\frac{1}{2}$  lower at 73 $\frac{1}{2}$  and Studebaker was  $\frac{1}{4}$  lower at 97 $\frac{1}{2}$ . American Sugar moved up  $\frac{1}{2}$  to 73 $\frac{1}{2}$  and S. Rubber showed a gain of  $\frac{1}{4}$  at 58 $\frac{1}{2}$ . Midvale Steel yielded only  $\frac{1}{4}$  to 23 $\frac{1}{2}$ , following the publication of the annual report showing a big deficit. Union Pacific rose  $\frac{1}{2}$  to 131 $\frac{1}{2}$  while Rock Island was  $\frac{1}{4}$  lower at 39 $\frac{1}{2}$ .

Various developments had an influence in causing decreased vigor in bullish activities today and although rallies occurred after the early dealing, there was a recurrence of selling pressure before the end of the first hour. The unfavorable annual report of General Motors and Midvale Steel, caused increased consideration to be devoted to the results of business in 1921.

The market closed strong; government bonds unchanged; railway and other bonds steady.

WAGES LOWER ON THE FARMS THIS SUMMER.
Those men who would rather remain idle than accept anything less than war-time wages will receive scant encouragement from farmers this year, for according to an investigation just completed by John B. Shepard of the U. S. Bureau of Markets and Crop Estimates, the farmers of this state are engaging men at wages only slightly above those paid in 1917 and they are employing only half as many hired men as they had that year. Compared with last year the number of men employed from agreements made, wages will be 10 per cent lower. Men hired by the month are being engaged at an average of $36 per month and board, or $51 per month without board but with the use of a house, garden and other customary privileges. On the whole there is no scarcity of applicants and farmers seem inclined to postpone the making of contracts in expectation that wages will be lower a little later in the season.

SMITH'S CAR NOT SO BADLY DAMAGED.

Kerkonson, March 4, 1922.
Editor, The Freeman:
In Friday's paper, March 3, it was stated that my son, Abram Smith, Jr., of Mombaccus Heights, had an accident at Kerkonson. Although he did have a slight accident, his car was not damaged as stated in The Freeman. In trying to go by a team with a load of lumber which was standing in the middle of the road his car skidded and struck a freight train standing on the track, breaking his windshield. Outside of that there was no other damage done. If people would not attend to their own affairs and be telling what is not so there would not be so many mistakes made.
MRS. ABRAM SMITH, SR.

LUCK SURELY WITH CARNEGIE

In His Autobiography the Ironmaster Has Told of an Amazing Piece of Fortune.

Business acquaintances and rivals of Andrew Carnegie used to declare that in addition to his remarkable ability and far-sightedness he was blessed with amazing luck. An incident early in the ironmaster's career seems to justify the assertion. A piece of rare business that might have ruined any other man resulted, in Carnegie's case, only in a brief scare.

"The morning, he relates in his autobiography, he set out from Altoona for Pittsburgh with a package of pay rolls and checks under his waistcoat—for the package was too large for his pockets. He was a very enthusiastic railroader at that time and liked to ride on the engine. It was a very rough ride over the mountains, and at one place, unusually feeling for the package, he was horrified to find that the jolting of the train had shaken it out. "There was," he says, "no use in disguising the fact that such a failure would ruin me, for to have been sent for the pay rolls and checks and to lose the package was a dreadful showing. I called the engineer and told him that it must have been shaken out within the last few miles. Would he reverse his engine and run back for it? Kind soul, he did so. I watched the line, and on the bank of a large stream within a few feet of the water I saw the package. I could hardly believe my eyes. I ran down and grasped it. It was not damaged. Need I add that it never passed out of my firm grasp again until it was safe in Pittsburgh?" "I never ventured to tell the story until long afterward. Suppose that package had fallen just a few feet farther away and been swept down by the stream; how many years of faithful service it would have required to wipe out the effect of that one piece of carelessness!" "I have never since believed, says he, in being too hard on a young man, even if he does commit a dreadful mistake or two; and in judging such acts I have always tried to remember the difference it would have made in my own career if I had not found that lost package."—Youth's Companion.

That "Groundhog" Belief.
According to popular superstition, the groundhog has his day February 2.

According to biological and weather experts, Mr. Groundhog is a pest and no prophet. The people that believe in the "six weeks more of winter" if he sees his shadow are fooling themselves. Whether or not the sun shines February 2 and casts the shadow of the groundhog, who may come out looking for something to eat, the weather will not be affected.

Cheap Living in Germany.
An American visiting Germany has written to the home folk a letter covering several features of living costs in that country. Here are a few samples: A ride from Hanover to Hamburg, six hours, first class, 25 cents. Lunch for two on the dining car, consisting of asparagus soup, a good drink of schnapps, a good portion of fish, roast veal, vegetables, coffee, pudding, bottle of good red wine, two liqueurs, at a total cost for two of about 70 cents in American currency. A taxi for two hours cost in American currency 40 cents. Dinner for three, including poultry, everything from soup to nuts and a bottle of wine, at a total cost of 90 cents. Laundry bill for ten handkerchiefs, seven collars, five pairs of socks, one suit of underwear, one pajamas, 10 cents. Until recently a handsome suit of clothes could be bought at about $10. Derby hats, 50 to 75 cents, and so on, all along the line, he writes.—Topeka Capital.

Harvard's New Astronomer.
Harold Shapiro, just elected astronomer at the Harvard college observatory to succeed its long-time astronomer, Edward C. Pickering, who died before his great life work was finished, is only thirty-five years old. He has a world-wide reputation in the Wilson observatory, California, in what may be called space-sounding, a process accomplished by the super-elecence, celestial spectrum photography.—Argonaut.

Important Omission.
"Your collection doesn't seem complete," said the visitor to the Natural History rooms.
"What do you mean, sir?"
"I don't see here that most beautiful of all insects, the one that brings dis-appointment, spots pleasure, causes divorce, deceives the credulous, frustrates hope and leaves the fondest expectations unfulfilled—I refer to the fly in the ointment."—Repton Transcript.

Cats Once Worshiped.

After the Romans conquered Egypt, they, with their usual sagacity, tolerated cat love or worship. Diodorus tells the story of a mob tearing a Roman soldier "to pieces" because he had accidentally slain a cat. An office keeper of cats was hereditary. The Turks adopted feline domestication. In Cairo homeless cats were fed by order of the khalifa. According to Lane, the translator of the Arabian Nights, the Sultan Al-Zahir Barbars founded a home for cats in a garden near his mosque.

Round Chimneys Best.

A round chimney, while not so easy to build as a square one, has decided advantages over the latter, says the Scientific American. It greatly lessens the friction between the walls of the chimney and the rising gases, and has the smallest wall surface in proportion to the cross area. The efficiency of a round chimney 24 inches in diameter is almost as great as that of a square chimney 24 inches across.

RESULTS IN STATE LEAGUE

President Stolz Acts on Protest; Riconda of Albany Leads League in Scoring.

At a meeting of the New York State Basketball League held Sunday afternoon in Schenectady, several protested games came up for action and President Lou Stolz made decisions in all cases.

Manager Morgenweck withdrew his former protest of the game lost in Troy on February 1. Albany figured in the second protest declaring that the Kingston team used Ralph Powers, an ineligible man in the Albany-Kingston contest on February 14. Despite the fact that Stolz gave Morgenweck permission to use Powers, he ruled it no contest and ordered the game replayed. Mohawk's protest of the game lost in Gloversville on February 15 was upheld giving the Indians a win. Gloversville used a flock of ineligible men. Amsterdam's protest of a game won by Troy in the Collar City was also upheld. Troy used two ineligible players. Amsterdam was awarded the victory. Manager McGrath is dissatisfied and says it will be put up to a vote of the managers.

Harry Riconda is still leading in the individual scoring and Amsterdam continues the best scoring unit. The ten leading scores follow:

MIDGETS WIN THIRD HIGH SCHOOL VICTORY

Kingston High School gained a triple victory Friday in basketball when the Midgets completed the tri-angulo by defeating the Tivoli High School Varsity 24-14; and that defeat was the first that Tivoli has witnessed this year on their home court.

The triangular victory marked the first this year of its kind. Two were gained last year and one the year before.

For the Midgets, Scheffel, Hasbrouck, Stumpf and Dederick featured in scoring and it is interesting to note that Quick, Tivoli's best man was held to three points by Eric Brown, the smallest player on the local team. When Maroney was substituted for Brown, Quick was also unable to do anything.

Eberhardt was the staff of life for the Tivoli lads with 4 fields.
